DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

C. C. FOWNING, Editor and Proprietor

Another substantial proposition to explore the resources of the North pole is the Government or some generous millionaire providing the wherewith. Dr. Nauman's success in crossing the wastes of Greenland convinced him that the North pole can be reached on snowshoes and he is ready to make the attempt for a consideration. The frightful sufferings of the Greely explorers, and the sad fate of hundreds before, seem to increase rather than diminish the fatal fascination of that trackless region of eternal night.

Eight and a half million dollars were embedded from corporations, firms and individuals in the United States during the past year. Of this crop Canada harvested three-fifths of the rogues, the remainder being divided between Mexico and Europe. The chief significance of this new addition to the statistics of the year is that April is conspicuously the boodle month, probably because the crop of fools is abnormally large about that time.

They have a piece of way in Georgia getting leading citizens out of the law's clutches. In the Hamilton jail Will Wallace, a noted desperado, was confined. His friends found existence dull without him, so they rode into the town, picked up all the arrests around the jail, battered in the doors, and then took their leader home in triumph. This is probably the last that the law officers will see of the outlaw.

The rotary snow-plow on the Central Pacific Railroad has accomplished wonders but it could not perform miracles. When the snow banked up behind it was helpless for it was not a double-end. It has done enough, however, to demonstrate its immense superiority to the old style of snow plow and to make it certain that with two or three of them the mountain division can be kept open all winter of the year.

Many of the California producers were men of little faith, if any reliance is to be placed on their statements. Here is a veteran, down from Mono county, who says he left a $50 a day claim on the Yuba because he thought gold would soon be dug in the market. A striking antithesis to this is the statement that he has no revenue now except an eight-dollar monthly pension as a Mexican war veteran.

We make a man fuss over a little cold snap as though the thermometer showed ten or twelve degrees below zero. That fact is we used some cold weather to brace us up and get the blood flowing in the veins, and this little cold wavelet is the best thing that could have happened.—S. F. Post.

Take a trip up to Reno; then if you blood doesn't tingle, take a run out to Elko or Carlin.

It is so wise as to seem almost providential that the great American Fourth of July comes at a time remote from the Fall elections. It would be embarrassing for an Independence day orator to elbow his way through the crowds of citizens yelling frat and corruption at each other and take the platform and declare this to be the grandest, the noblest, the most glorious Nation of all time.

No one responded to the request of Chairman McKinley for some one to address the Committee on "free wool." The incident is significant.

If Democratic reports are reliable, Senatorial sentiment in Ohio is rapidly concentrating on Blaine. The bar is open at both ends.

SILVER IN CONGRESS.

The S. F. Post says: According to dispatches from Washington it seems to be pretty definitely settled that President Harrison will submit a special message to Congress at an early day favoring Secretary Windom's plan, which provides for the deposit of silver in the Treasury for the purpose of silver coinage and the issuance of Treasury certificates against it. This will be taken up by the gold men of the East, who will then fight for a compromise measure upon the lines laid down by the Administration.

The compromise is to be an agreement between the single gold standard and the free coinage of silver at a fixed ratio, but it will be a slighter kind of compromise than at best to advocate a measure which is not only more than the demonization of silver, though conceived under the guise of making a loan basis for our title and a sound bit. It must be a compromise that Windom's proposition embraces with compulsory suspension of silver coin, and also leaves to the Treasurer the option of coining to the full value of the bullion whenever he sees fit. The necessary consequence of this is, if adopted, it would be to discredit silver entirely as coin, and to put it on a sort of a hybrid footing, subject to the personal views, and even the whims and caprices of the Secretary of the Treasury.

If there is to be a compromise at all it must be one which will retain the idea of silver as money, not one which shall consider it merely as an article of merchandise. The friend of free coinage might possibly insist on an enlargement of the Bond Act, by which the amount of silver required by law to be purchased and coined monthly should be increased from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000, but they will not consent to such a complete surrender of principle and position as would be involved in according to Secretary Windom's proposition.

The so-called gold men of the East represent the creditor class, the silver men represent the debtor class. The latter, as is the case everywhere, are the more numerous, but the former possess more political influence and imagine that they ought to control the financial policy of the country. They grow very eloquent on our foreign relations and the necessity of being in sympathy with the monetary policy of Europe, not remembering that out of every hundred of the American people there is not more than one to whom the financial policy of Europe is of the slightest consequence.

Congress must adjust the money question of the United States to suit the people of the United States, just as other countries fix their financial policy to suit what they deem to be the best interests of their own people. We are strong enough and great enough to induce the nations to come to us, instead of running after them, and a firm stand on the silver question will undoubtedly bring about a revolution in favor of bimetalism in more than one European dictatorship.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

WORK OF THE PRINTERS AND TELEGRAPHERS LAST NIGHT.

A Summary of the News of the Day Over the Wires Under Oceans and Across Continents.

St. Louis' Claims.

Special to the Journal.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Before the Senate special Committee on the World's Fair today Col. Jones, of St. Louis, said he hoped very foreign visitor to the exposition would visit Washington and see for himself the some workings of the Federal Government, while that visitor contemplated it he would naturally ask: "Whence comes the dynamic force that propels and the wealth that supports this mighty popular engine?" the exposition would point him directly to the wonderful Mississippi valley, the principal test of the nation's productivity. In that valley lay St. Louis, the central ganglion of its distributive system. He called attention to the map hung in the main rooms with a radius of 500 miles around New York, Chicago and St. Louis. "That map shows," he said, "a population of 20,100,000 around New York, 11,700,000 around Chicago and 23,800,000 around St. Louis. The railroad mileage within the New York circle is 44,000 miles, within the Chicago circle 65,000 miles and within the St. Louis circle 70,000 miles that is independent of the 24,000 miles of river navigation connected by the Mississippi river with the wharves of St. Louis." He closed with a review of the site, water supply and hotel accommodations to be found in or near that city. The committee adjourned until Friday.

Investigating the Tariff.

Special to the Journal.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The Ways and Means Committee this afternoon heard several gentlemen connected with wine and spirit interests.

George T. Slagg, of Kentucky, said the distillers do not ask the repeal of internal revenue, but they would like to have the tax reduced from 90 cents to 50 cents a gallon.

Congressman Lansing, of New York, endeavored to impress upon the committee the desirability of giving agriculture the same degree of protection given to manufacturers. He wanted a duty of 40 cents a bushel on peas and beans raised for seed, 20 cents instead of 10 cents on barley, and $1 instead of $2 on hay.

A Strike Quickly Settled.

Special to the Journal.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—A strike occurred at the Union Iron Works this afternoon, which was amicably settled a few hours afterward. The men objected to a recent order of the company providing for a monthly assessment of thirty cents to insure medical attendance in case of accident. About 500 workmen left the shops. This afternoon a conference was held and the company agreed to refund the money to those who had not signed the agreement to contribute the thirty cents. Those who agreed to pay the assessment will do so for this month only. The men who went out to-day will accordingly return to work tomorrow.

Trying to Save Navigation.

Special to the Journal.
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—A committee from the State Board of Trade appeared before the Board of Supervisors this afternoon to urge the appointment of representatives of the counties on the Sacramento river to go to Washington to assist in securing the aid of the Government in the matter of improving and protecting the stream. Chairman Ross told the committee that it was the unanimous sentiment of the public that the request of the Board of Trade should be granted. He assured them that the Supervisors would go as far as the law permitted to promote the work of a river convention.

The Monopoly Asserts Itself.

Special to the Journal.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—Suit has been commenced in the United States Circuit Court by the American Bell Telephone Company, the Pacific Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph company against Edward W. Fogt and others. The complaint alleges that defendants have infringed upon plaintiffs' right to operate telephones in this State, and asks for an injunction restraining them from so doing. The injunction has been granted.

Joined the Great Majority.

Special to the Journal.
PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 8.—Ex-Governor George L. Woods died today at St. Vincent's hospital, after a long and painful illness. Deceased was 58 years old. He came to Oregon in 1844; was a Presidential elector for Lincoln; was elected Governor of Oregon in 1866, and in 1871 was appointed Governor of Utah by President Grant. Since 1875 he has been living on the Pacific Coast practicing law.

Deaths in the Depths.

Special to the Journal.
DENVER, Jan. 8.—A telegram from the Victor coal mines, near Trinidad, says a cave occurred at the mines this morning and five men were buried underneath rock and earth. Physicians left Trinidad immediately upon receipt of the news, but it is feared the miners are dead.

Fine Residence Burned.

Special to the Journal.
SAN LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 8.—The residence of Hon. Frank McConpin, of this city, with its contents, including costly pictures and furniture, was entirely destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $20,000; insurance light.

VOORHEES SQUELCHED.

He Picks a Political Fight in the Senate and Runs Against the Republican Heavy-Weight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—In the Senate today Voorhees called up the resolution offered by him yesterday relating to the alleged interference by Chambers, United States District Attorney at Indianapolis, to prevent the arrest of W. W. Dudley on the charge of violating the election laws of Indiana in the Presidential election, and proceeded to address the Senate. He spoke of the crime as having indicated an indelible stain on that memorable election, and impeached the integrity of the political result that followed.

Edmunds commented upon the failure of the Democratic United States District Attorney, before the change of administration, to bring the Dudley matter to the attention of the Grand Jury. He intimated that the Dudley letter might have been suggested by or instigated from one which had been sent out by Whitaker, of Martinsville, Ind., Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, on the 7th of September, 1888, and which was published in an editorial in the Terra Haute Express. He sent the letter to the clerk's desk and had it read. He then branched off on the question of the recent political crimes in Indiana, and spoke of the forging of tally sheets in the Indianapolis election in 1886, for which Coy, a member of the Common Council, was sent to the penitentiary for 18 months, and who is still drawing pay as a Councilman, a Democratic member of the Council having refused to vote for his expulsion. He also referred to the statement as to the inmates of the Poor House and Insane Asylum having been taken to Marion county under the direction of Miller, a former Democratic Treasurer of the county, where everyone then voted the straight Democratic ticket.

Voorhees said the Senator from Vermont had been coached very thoroughly by the Attorney General, but there was no such letter as the Martinsville letter. As to the Coy case, Coy had been sent to the penitentiary for eighteen months by the worst, most partisan, unfair and malicious Court organized since the days of Jeff. Burt, and had returned with a pardon.

The preamble to Voorhees' resolution was laid on the table, and the substitute offered by Edmunds was adopted by a vote of 31 to 24.

After Edmunds' resolution was adopted Voorhees remarked that he would find some way to ascertain the judgment of the law department on the action of its subordinates.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

A Very Large Fee.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—The Post-Dispatch publishes a sensational story to the effect that E. J. Butler, the political boss, has made a proposition to James Campbell, of the Laodel Gaslight Company, to secure a veto of what is known as the Gas Sten bill for a fee of $150,000. The Laodel people say euphatically that Campbell laid the proposal as coming from Butler before them, and it is said that Butler made the proposition on the strength of a "tip" from Major Noman's warmest personal friend, John O'Mera.

Shot at a Dance.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8.—A desperado named Jacob Gregory at a country dance in McDonald county, southwest of here, a few nights ago became involved in an altercation with Norman Hogan, at whom he fired a shot in the darkness. The bullet missed Hogan and struck Adolphus Griffith, a highly respectable young man, near the heart, killing him almost instantly. Gregory escaped.

Better Late Than Never.

Special to the Journal.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Wm. E. Harding, Mike Cleary, Mike Donovan and William Muldoon have been taken into custody, and officers are looking for all others connected with the Sullivan-Kilrain fight. All were taken into custody on the old requisitions sent to Governor Hill by Governor Lowry, of Mississippi. They were admitted to bail and their hearing set for Saturday.

WHAT ON EARTH.

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not use any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John Doses or irresponsible parties enormous profits rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BFG'S BLOOD PURIFIER AND BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing.

Judge Dandy, at Portland, holds that the Union Pacific Company has the right to receive freight at any point on its system destined to any point on the Northern Pacific line, and the latter is bound to receive it and charge its rates for the delivery of the same.

Elko, Nev., reports 45 degrees below zero Monday, and it is conceded to be an utter impossibility, with the present depth of snow and cold weather, for range stock to survive.

—Clem Flint, 11-year-old son of W. C. Flint, an attorney-at-law, committed suicide yesterday morning in San Francisco, by shooting himself in the head.

—The Western Union Telegraph office at St. Louis was burned yesterday. Loss, $100,000.

AND OUPID BOLDLY DEFILES THE LAWS OF MORTAL MAN.

An Eastern Couple Spoil a Family Quarrel Put Up by the Frisky Little God.

A Nice Little Romance.

Special to the Journal.
BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Herbert M. Smith, of this place, has had an Enoch Arden experience which has turned out better than the average. Several years ago, while living in Bridgeport, she met and married John Luick. He was an excellent mechanic and worked in the Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine factory. Their married life was happy until a daughter was born to them, and then Mr. Luick became restless. Five years ago he left Bridgeport suddenly without notifying his wife where he was going, nor did he write to her. She was left with her daughter to support. She obtained work in one of the local factories and with her earnings cared for herself and child in comfort. Time passed, and hearing nothing of her absent husband, she obtained a divorce. She was yet young and exceedingly attractive, and when she met Herbert M. Smith, of Birmingham, a mutual affection was awakened which soon ripened into love and a marriage soon followed.

Christmas eve Mr. and Mrs. Smith went to Bridgeport to spend the holiday with Mrs. Smith's mother, Luick, who had gone to a Western city, got into business and prospered. Also started for Bridgeport to hunt up his wife and child. He arrived Christmas night and, having no knowledge of the divorce proceedings, he anticipated a happy reunion. He intended to take his wife and child home with him when he returned and place them in a position of comparative affluence. He had no difficulty in finding the residence of his former mother-in-law and when he rang the bell the maid who responded showed him into the room where Mr. and Mrs. Smith and the family sat. The surprise to all was great. Mr. Luick was introduced to his successor and they shook hands in a friendly way. Mr. Luick did not get mad and broken around, nor did he look sad and tear-headed. He told his story and Mrs. Smith told hers. Then he spoke to Mr. Smith congratulating him on his marriage and wished the couple good luck. After eating Christmas turkey with his friends he invited his former wife to take a walk with him, and with her husband's consent, she accepted. Their walk brought up at one of the stores devoted to Christmas goods, and Mr. Luick invited Mrs. Smith to come in and pick out a nice present. She did so, but before they came out he had loaded her down with gifts for herself and his daughter. This morning the couple parted. Mr. Smith accompanied her husband back to his home in this place, and Mr. Luick buying his ticket for his first Western home, where he says he will remain.

His Hunt Rewarded.

ASHEVILLE, Ala., Jan. 8.—While visiting friends in Calera, Ala., five years ago, James J. Arnold, of this place, had a little six-year-old daughter stolen from him. He learned that she had been abducted by one Sarah Colbert, but could not learn in what direction the woman had gone. Ever since the father has kept up the search. Last week he found her playing in the yard of one McAlva, in Cherokee county.

McAlva gave the girl up with reluctance after Arnold proved he was her father. McAlva says the Colbert woman left the girl at his house five years before and called for her a few days later, but he refused to give her up. McAlva is a bachelor and had formed a warm attachment for the child, who will probably inherit his estate. The child is now about eleven years old.

Big Enough to Take Care of Himself.

BIRMINGHAM, Conn., Jan. 8.—Henry W. Cooper, ex-Superintendent of the Ansonia Brass and Copper company, made application before Judge McMahon yesterday to have his conservator, Lawyer Holden, removed. Judge Manger opposed on the part of the town. Decision was reserved. Cooper is an inordinate drinker of whisky, often consuming two quarts at a sitting. His wife obtained a divorce some time ago and is at present employed at the office of a complexion specialist in East Fourteenth street, New York. They once moved in the best circles of society. Cooper weighs 240 pounds and his conservator, who stands in dread of him, 125. The sum of $20,000 is involved.

PRICE OF DAILY JOURNAL,
10 CENTS PER WEEK

The "Weekly Journal."

On and after January 1, 1890, the price of the WEEKLY JOURNAL will only be $2 per year, making it the best and cheapest weekly paper in the State.

BREVITIES.

It was 21° below zero at Glendale yesterday morning.

The snow appears to protect the water pipes about town.

George Bradley has gone out to Elko to look after his cattle interests.

The domino party of the Daughters of Rebekah will take place in the Pavilion to night.

It is rumored that range cattle, in the Eastern part of the State, can be bought for from $7 to $10 a head.

The Truckee river is frozen over, and the small boys are out with their skates hunting a smooth spot large enough to skate on.

Slighting is still first-class, but the collapse of the thermometer during the last few days has taken away a great deal of the pleasure.

Grant H. Smith, a young man who has been reared in Carson and Virginia, was on Monday admitted to practice law by the Supreme Court.

Water was turned on from the big reservoir yesterday afternoon. Consumers should be as careful as possible of the water while the cold snap lasts.

W. H. H. Fellows came over from Placerville Cal., yesterday in order to get cooled off. He says three inches of snow fell at Placerville during the recent storm.

The officers of the Carson Guard propose to have the company parade on Washington's Birthday. A good idea for put to young Americans. The Reno Guard should do likewise.

The Silver State says there is much sickness in Winnemucca at present. Among the ailments are pneumonia, and throat trouble, the latter being quite prevalent, and one case of typhoid fever.

B. H. Andrews, Charles Richardson, Ella Wilson and Marion Wilson, all of whom have been spending their holiday vacations at home, have returned to Napa College, Cal., where they are all taking a business course.

George Russell says that his advice from his father and Snake river ranges is that the cattle are all right, but he is anticipating quite a loss on his Elko country range. He has ordered 200 tons of hay shipped from California to Elko, and will feed all the poorer cattle and in that way save them.

"The Princess."

"The Princess" which is attracting the attention of so large a number of our people at present, is a musical drama arranged from Tennyson's great poem. The poet's "The Princess" is a melody, as indeed it is—a melody of chivalric customs and modern ideas of woman's rights. The Princess is full of sympathy for the wrongs of her sex, determined never to rest until she has secured a university for maidens. This university of maidens offers the opportunity for the chaste, which is being trained by Mr. Lindsay. All is elegance and refinement at this retreat for women. The college dress is an Oxford gown of lilac and gold with the Oxford cap. A pretty sight indeed will our Reno beauties furnish in these charming dresses. To this university the Prince early betrotted to himself comes with two boon companions, disguised as women, although the story law is "Let no man enter here on pain of death." Ultimately they are discovered. War follows. The cause of the Princess is victorious. The Prince is wounded, and in gratitude for his having saved her life the Princess nurses him to health and in so doing learns to love him, and all ends happily, the Prince and Princess determined to work together for an uplifting of woman-kind.

Mr. Van's case is man's. They rise or fall together.

This is but an outline of the play and gives no idea of the many incidents—humorous pathetic and heroic—which the story furnishes. The characters are well portrayed and the actors take with training. All who have heard the rehearsal remark how few of the ordinary crudities of amateur actors are to be noted.

The Reno Journal is advertising extensively the State. Through it has not advertised in this paper, yet we feel disposed to say a word in its favor, not only because it is up to any of the papers in its capacity for giving news, but also because, as far as we can judge it seems to be fair and give all the facts regardless of whom they may affect.

We will say the name of the Winnemucca Silver State, and to those of our readers who want to know, let us mention on both sides of political affairs we would recommend the Star Journal and Silver State, always remembering the motto: "Truth is a proper digest of the same."

A Fine Lithograph of Reno.

We are in receipt of a lithograph view of Reno sent us from the office of the Reno Star Journal. It is a fine picture showing a beautiful town on the plains, with the Sierra Nevada mountains in the background. The lithograph is a fine specimen of the energy and enterprise for which Reno is greatly indebted to G. N. C. C. Powling. The town is growing, and situated as it is, with the prospect of becoming a railroad center there is no reason why it should not become a great city.—Eureka Sentinel.

Harvesting Ice.

John Dehl has commenced harvesting ice and getting his ice houses filled with crystal blocks of "hard water" eight inches thick, says the Winnemucca Silver State. This year ice can be hauled from the river to where it is to be stored, on sleds.

Excellent, reliable and economical are the stoves and ranges sold by Lange & Schmidt. Every house and store should have them. Call and inspect before purchasing.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

State and Society Reception on New Year's—Notes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2, 1890. Despite the drizzle of rain and the generally sloppy condition of the streets, the New Year's reception at the White House was not only largely attended, but it was one of the most brilliant ever held by any President. Without it was cold and bleak, all was warmth and brightness.

The rooms were beautifully decorated—every available spot was filled with spreading palms, feathery ferns and gay foliage plants—matties, tables and window boxes were banked high with cut flowers that made the air sweet with their delicious perfume. From chandeliers, mirrors and windows depended great ropes of smilax.

The blue room, where the President and his reception party stood, is of an oval shape, and has, perhaps, the most elegant and tasteful furnishings of any apartment in the mansion. The three windows at the back were almost hidden by great masses of the beautiful asparagus plumosa. The chandeliers and side lights were cunningly screened with delicate pink, and the gaslight filtering through gave a most delicious glow to the scene. The red parlor, where the diplomatic corps assembled, and the green room, were also gay with lights and flowers.

The Marine band, in their brilliant uniforms of red and white, filled the main corridor, and the sweet strains from their splendidly polished instruments made all forget the chill and darkness on the outside.

A few minutes after 11 o'clock, as the first notes of the well-known air, "Hail to the Chief," were sounded, the President, with Mrs. McKee on his arm, came down the stairway and entered the blue parlor. Immediately behind them were the other members of the reception party—in the order of their official rank. No doubtless or pinheads of the blood royal guards more jealously her right of precedence than do these grand dames of our Republican Government.

The presence of the Vice President's wife was something of a novelty, as the last to fill that place was Mrs. Schuyler Colfax. The recent death of a sister caused Mrs. Blaine to be absent, and the ill health of a little son kept Mrs. Brewster away.

Mrs. Harrison, who is in mourning, was represented by her daughter, Mrs. McKee, who wore a charming princess gown, of white armure silk, with the front of emerald bordered silk, with sleeves and square cut corsage. In her left hand she held a large bunch of L. France roses.

Mrs. Morton, who stood next in line, wore a superb gown of pearl next in line, a court train lined with pink faille, the V-shaped bodice edged with pink silk gauze and steel passementerie. The other ladies of the receiving party were also richly and becomingly attired.

Delicious strains of music, soft, mellow lights, the wilderness of plants and flowers, the full court costumes of the foreign diplomats, with jeweled ornaments and profusion of gold lace, gorgeously uniformed officers and beautiful women, gaily dressed, made a scene the brilliancy of which would be forgotten.

The little ladies of the Korean legation were objects of interest as they toddled about the rooms gaily chattering in their native tongue to their liege lords and masters. They have that repose of manner peculiar to the Orientals and such low, sweet toned voices. In their beautiful pith helmets, at the Shoreham, Spenser and Mrs. ... held their first official reception.

Though not at all fond of mingling in official society, Mrs. Reed is an extremely refined, cultivated, charming woman, and on occasion presides with dignity and popularity. She is of low stature, dark and plump of figure, with wavy, comely brown hair growing low on her forehead, and ingenious, laughing eyes. Mr. Reed has a majestic appearance, massive, bald head, with a bold forehead. In social life, the Reeds might easily be leaders, but he is not so devoted to the care of that little daughter, whose delicate health has caused her to persistently decline the most flattering invitations.

Another delightful reception held at the Shoreham was that of Mrs. Stewart, who is an accomplished and agreeable entertainer. She was assisted by her young daughter, Miss Abelle, one of this season's debutantes, and the Senator's niece, Miss Lillian Alrich. Miss Alrich is a bright young lady with comely rable histrionic talent. Under the management of Maurice Grau, she will make her debut before the footlights in this city early in February. She will appear in a comedy called "Maid Marian."

DOROTHY DEXTER.

Deserving Amateurs.

The rehearsals of "The Princess" continue in spite of the cold. Those taking part are making no effort to make the evening of the 17th the most enjoyable one of the winter. Neither do they are saving any expense. All the characters furnish their own costumes, so that the library may receive a large sum. As the finest costumes in San Francisco are to be secured for the leading characters and as every one of the fifty actors has a new costume for the occasion, some idea of their generosity can be gained. If the people of Reno do not respond as generously by packing the Opera House to its full capacity the Journal will be greatly mistaken.

Good Time to Restore Humboldt Lake.

The Silver State says Humboldt Lake have lived on the Humboldt in Elko county for over twenty years and that there will not be a dam left in the east of Colorado after the June freshet next summer. There is more snow on the upper Humboldt than at any time since 1868, and when it melts it will fill the river bottom from sagebrush to sagebrush. If Big Meadows farmers wish to make the Humboldt lake as large as it was before the dam was blown up all they have to do is to place the dam and Nature will furnish the water.

A GREAT ACTRESS.

A Dramatic Treat in Store for Renosites—Helen Blythe.

The annexed, taken from the Detroit Free Press, will give our people an idea of what may be expected at the opera house tomorrow night:

"Miss Blythe this morning must feel more than delighted with the warmth of her reception last evening at the opera house. No actress this season has made a more pronounced and legitimate hit. Miss Blythe is an artist in the truest sense of the word. Many with greater names do not possess one-half the ability of this lady. It is a very easy matter for the observer to notice that Miss Blythe has been educated in a splendid school. Her methods are perfect. Every climax is reached by the most legitimate means and without rant. Her emotion is admirably portrayed and is so perfectly natural that her audiences weeps with her and shares the burden of her sorrows in the womanly sacrifices that she make for her child. Dame Nature has been bountiful to Miss Blythe and given to her a magnificent physique. Her features are perfectly classical and so expressive as to fairly speak the thought before it is uttered. Miss Blythe as an actress is the peer of the greatest and, having youth in her favor, she will undoubtedly stand supreme."

"Mother's Love" is in every sense of the word a great play, pure in thought, rich in dialogue, with strong dramatic situations and a beautiful story showing the true nobility of a woman's character. The supporting company is all that could be desired."

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

There are forty feet of snow on some of the Central Pacific sheds.

Almond trees are in full blossom in Capay Valley, Yolo county.

Sacramento is to vote on the 30th inst. for freeholders to prepare a new charter.

At Truckee Monday the cold surpassed anything ever experienced in that section.

Oroville claims its Citrus Fair is grand beyond description. It was formally opened last evening.

The Colusa Gazette says: Catfish are eating wheat on the land where that proposed canal was to be dug.

The Panama Company has contracted to deliver 645,000 quart-cans of fruit annually for the next four years.

School teachers in Sacramento county, who failed to attend the County Institute, are to be suspended for one month.

There is bad blood in the company that proposes to hold an exposition at Tacoma, and the project will probably be abandoned.

Hale & Baughman, owners of a hydraulic mine at Indian Diggings, El Dorado county, promise to impound their tailings if permitted to resume work.

A committee from Red Bluff is examining the machinery of the wooden mills at Santa Rosa, with the view of purchasing and re-erecting it to Red Bluff.

A genius has succeeded in inventing a machine for wrapping oranges that does the work of three men. He says that it can wrap 2,500 oranges in one hour.

The Editorial Association, which was to meet at San Bernardino on the 14th inst., will not meet until the 11th of February, owing to the damages by recent rains.

Southland Hutton, of Los Angeles, goes to Rio Grande to advance the trade interests of California with the Spanish American States and is warmly commended by Governor Waterman.

Saturday a railroad collision occurred near Arlington, Ore., but the fatal circumstances connected therewith, if any actually occurred, were suppressed by the railroad people. It is stated several persons were killed.

During the recent floods at Anaheim, every hummock was swarming with hares and rabbits that were driven from the plains. They were slaughtered by thousands by boys and men, who used sticks, and when tired of the sport they would run the poor beasts off their dry places into the raging waters.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures colic, wind, and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, teething troubles, and reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the result of one of the oldest and best families of the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Go to Lange & Schmidt's for ranges, and cook stoves. Best assortment in the State.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of the kind which can truly be said, "One Hundred Cures for One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicinal merit.

Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad—no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. L. DODD & CO., Apocryphal, Lowell, Mass. 100 Doses, One Dollar.
